What impact the school has seen on pupils' PE and sport participation and attainment as a result?

- Aspire Coaching continued to be available for children of critical workers during lockdown, which supported our continued focus on fitness and sport, linked to children's well-being.
- Activities designed and shared by the Schools' Sports' Partnerships enabled fun and varied PE and fitness activities to continue as part of our home learning provision.
- Funding for after-school hall booking has enabled us to broaden our sporting clubs with all year groups able to access at least two after-school sporting opportunities. 48% of our children have taken up at least one after-school sporting opportunity.
- The astroturf has significantly increased the amount of space children have to play, particularly in the winter months. This has increased opportunities for physical exercise, increased enjoyment of lunchtimes/playtimes and reduced the number of minor injuries due to over-crowding.
- It is anticipated that during the Forest School sessions the children will do a lot of social learning and relationships-building. Sessions should support children in learning to manage risks and use their own initiative to problem solve and cooperate with others. The hands-on learning will help to build confidence, self-esteem and motivation which are all skills needed to be an effective learner.
