FROXFIELD CE SCHOOL

RECOGNITION

The following methods will be used to identify more able children:

- ❖ standardised tests / formal assessments
- ❖ teacher observation and assessment
- ❖ checklists
- ❖ background knowledge
- ❖ parent information

No one single method can be entirely accurate. The school seeks to provide enriched curriculum opportunities for all children. Through this it is possible to identify the more and most able and provide further opportunities to enrich learning and challenge children.

CHALLENGE

More able children need to be challenged. The role of the teacher is vital in challenging the thinking of the able child.

Opportunities to challenge and enrich learning are provided by all teachers as part of their standard planning and provision (Eg adapted tasks, reasoning activities, depth learning, independent activities, activities that promote and challenge thinking). Teachers will use ongoing assessment within the classroom as part of their everyday classroom practice to adapt learning as appropriate for more able children.

The ability to work with others is essential. This can be made possible by varying the groupings used. The needs of all children will be address within high-quality classroom provision. All more able children will take on a coaching role through acting as a Learning Partner for other children.

Where possible, extra-curricular opportunities are provided to enhance provision for able children. These may include:

1. Club activities
2. Activity days and master classes, often within our local cluster and designated secondary school.
3. Day and residential visits.
4. The use of specialists e.g. teachers from secondary schools, visiting artists, musicians and authors.
5. Opportunities to be involved in events within the local area eg. music, dance, art opportunities.
6. Opportunities to compete against others on a inter-school / county / national level

CO-ORDINATING AND MONITORING

The following people can support this through regular reviews:

1. Headteacher
2. Co-ordinator for RHE.
3. Teachers and Teaching Assistants.
4. Governor with responsibility for More Able Children.

REVIEW AND DEVELOPMENT

Each year the school draws up a register of More Able Children in each year group. The Headteacher keeps this list under review. The progress of these children is closely monitored. Progress of able children is discussed during Pupil Progress Meetings each term.
